Dear Parents/Guardians,

I'd like to start by saying thank you so much for supporting Children in Need last week. As a school we raised £381.63 and the children thoroughly enjoyed 'facing their fears' throughout the day. Check out our school Facebook page to see some of their faces, they had so much fun.

On Tuesday we held our parent workshop 'Same Difference' which the children will also access on 6th December. It was nice to see the Clergy, Council and Local Police supporting the initiative too. The workshops teach about stereotyping, challenging their own perceptions, community cohesion and British values.

This week our school choir has clearly inspired many of our children as they are coming to see me daily to sing. They are extremely talented and Miss Frost has clearly enthused them all! We have a few events organised for the choir to sing in the local community over the next few weeks. The first being the Christmas fair at Dorset Road community centre. Thanks so much to our PTFA for organising, do come along to show your support.

It has been National Road Safety Week this week and Miss Hayward has led the school in taking part. Children have undertaken numerous activities in class and I'm sure they will be telling you all about them at home too.

Have a lovely weekend.
Miss L. Young

What's coming up...

Thursday, 7th December - Whole MAT Pantomime – St Helens Theatre Royal – Snow White
Friday, 8th December – Little Dragon's Christmas Concert
