Dear Parents/Carers

Welcome back after half term to what has been a rather chilly week. As the snow first fell on Tuesday we did encourage the children to go outside and have fun in the snow, but as the bitter east wind hit us yesterday the children have been kept inside nice and toasty!

I'd like to extend a warm welcome to Miss Sutherland who has started working in Little Dragons this week, we hope she settles in quickly and enjoys her new adventure with us.

Yesterday the children all looked absolutely amazing in their costumes for World Book Day. Thank you so much to all the effort that families have clearly put into creating or purchasing the outfits. The children had a great day! Their focus has been a book called 'The Day the Crayons Quit', it's about a young boy called Duncan who just wants to colour. But when he opens his box of crayons, he finds only letters, all saying the same thing: his crayons have had enough! They quit! Beige Crayon is tired of playing second fiddle to Brown Crayon. Black Crayon wants to be used for more than just outlining. Blue needs a break from colouring all those bodies of water. And Orange Crayon and Yellow Crayon are no longer speaking—each believes he is the true colour of the sun. The children have all completed work on this and have had such a fun time too!

Well done too to the staff who all chose to dress as 'The Cat in the Hat' a book written by Dr Seuss, everyone looked fantastic and the children had lots of fun too.

Please ensure that your child continues to come to school with a coat, hat, scarf and gloves during this extremely cold spell of weather.

Enjoy the weekend
